

2012 Kansas Statutes

26-601. Limitations on right of eminent domain by Cowley county. Cowley county may not exercise the right of eminent domain to appropriate any land or site for which at least one of the purposes is a recreational-use purpose or if such county exercises the right of eminent domain to appropriate land or site, there shall be no private development on such land or site for a period of 30 years after such appropriation of land. Cowley county may not exercise the right of eminent domain to appropriate any land or site prior to a showing that all required state and federal permits to use or develop such land or site in the manner specified by the county have been obtained.

History: L. 2004, ch. 110, § 4; Apr. 22.