

2012 Kansas Statutes

76-2007f. Same; restrictions and limitations on lease. Each of the leases entered into pursuant to the provisions of this act shall contain the following restrictions or limitations on the use of the tracts of land so leased: (a) No earth-altering operation, other than landscaping, shall be undertaken on such property without the written consent of: (1) The Kansas state historical society, with respect to that portion of the tract of land described in subsection (a)(1) of K.S.A. 76-2007d which is under the jurisdiction of said society; or (2) the state board of regents, with respect to that portion of the tract of land described in subsection (a)(1) of K.S.A. 76-2007d which is under the jurisdiction of said board and the tract of land described in subsection (a)(2) of K.S.A. 76-2007d;

(b) the city, or its designated agent, shall be liable for any damage to any state-owned property or injury to any persons; and

(c) the state shall reserve the right to enter the premises and excavate any area of historical significance on the property leased.

History: L. 1978, ch. 380, § 3; July 1.