

2012 Kansas Statutes

76-3401. Legislative declaration and intent. The legislature hereby declares that the availability of improved access to and choice of higher education opportunities in this state will benefit the residents of the state and that the establishment of a postsecondary education savings program may assist residents in meeting the expenses incurred in availing themselves of higher education opportunities. Therefore, it is the intention of this act to provide for a feasibility study regarding implementation of a postsecondary education savings program in this state.
