77-163. Cumulative supplements to Kansas Statutes Annotated; general index volumes. After the close of each regular session of the legislature the revisor of statutes shall prepare and furnish to the director of printing copy for the general index paperbound volume or volumes and cumulative supplements to the current bound volumes of Kansas Statutes Annotated. Such cumulative supplements shall contain all general laws and all laws of a general nature enacted at any general or special session of the legislature subsequent to the publication of the current bound volumes of the Kansas Statutes Annotated and not included therein. The material in such supplements shall be arranged in the same order as like material is arranged in the current bound volumes, and shall show all sections repealed or amended, and shall be annotated to decisions of the supreme court subsequent to the date of publication of the current bound volumes. The revisor of statutes may include such cross-reference tables and materials as the revisor determines will facilitate the use of such supplements. The revisor of statutes may edit the statutes contained in the supplements in the same manner as authorized by K.S.A. 77-136 and amendments thereto.
